PRAYER

Our Father, we pray for Divine Guidance of our President and other leaders at the Conference in Geneva. Put words into their mouths and thoughts into their minds so that what is done may be done to Thy glory and honor and to remove fear of war among men. In Thy Name we ask it. Amen

WHO KILLED DIXON-YATES?

Senator Albert Gore is out with an, "I told you so," since President Eisenhower ordered the Dixon-Yates contract cancelled.

Senior Senator Estes Kefauver has extended his investigation of the eighteen months old document, and intimates the criminal code may have been violated.

Of course we don't want criminal laws violated in order to relieve an impending power shortage at Memphis, and if Senator Gore is right about his "warning" we should pay more attention to him hereafter.

The way it looks to us is that the Dixon-Yates combine was the only one that offered to relieve the Memphis power shortage after the President announced he would not favor an appropriation for TVA to relieve it. When the City of Memphis decided to relieve its own power shortage, and its decision was apparently found to be sincere by the FBI, the Dixon-Yates contract was promptly cancelled.

City officials of Memphis were called to Washington to verify the promise to build a steam plant called on President Eisenhower at the White House, and it is interesting to note they are not among prominent Democrats still criticizing the Administration.

According to newspaper reports the Memphis officials were treated courteously by the President, the heads of the Budget Bureau, and AEC officials. If they found anything "sinister" about the President's dealings with Dixon-Yates they haven't said so.

Along with 99% of the people of the Tennessee Valley we opposed the Dixon-Yates contract from the start, but we didn't think there was anything dishonest about the administration trying to do exactly what the Truman administration did at Portsmouth, Ohio, and at Joppa, Mo.

The Eisenhower Administration even dealt with the same power combine that Truman hired to build steam plants at Portsmouth and Joppa, the EBASCO outfit which Dixon-Yates hired to build the plant at West Memphis.

If the two senators are the "Saviors of TVA" and the watch-dogs of the United States Treasury, where were they when Truman let contracts for construction of steam plants at Joppa and Portsmouth?

And if it is "criminal" for a private power company to sell electricity to TVA what about the present practice at sub-stations at, and near, Memphis? TVA has never been able to supply all of the needs of Memphis and has been buying electricity from the same folks who were building the Dixon-Yates plant ever since the TVA contract was signed with Memphis in 1938.

We have stated many times that politicians have used TVA as a "political football" ever since it was created. Most of those now riding its crest were in grammar school when the real fight for its creation was won.

If the two senators really want to unearth a scandal, and one that will resemble Teapot Dome in many respects, let them uncover the political log-rolling that led up to the present controversy over Dixon-Yates. It was going on twenty years ago when TVA signed up with Memphis, a city that had no more right to power produced in the Tennessee Valley than St. Louis, Atlanta or Birmingham.

We have often been asked why we have always objected to Memphis getting cheap TVA power. Our answer is that we live in Murray. If Memphis didn't have cheap TVA power and Murray did, our chances to get better power would be increased accordingly.

And that is true of every other city and town in the great Tennessee Valley, a region TVA was created to benefit. Senator George Norris, who introduced the TVA Act, didn't have Memphis in mind. Nor was Memphis in the area described as having the lowest per capita income in the United States.

Politics—ran transmission lines from Wilson Dam on the Tennessee to Memphis on the Mississippi, and we hope General Vogel will persist in having the TVA contract with Memphis cancelled when it expires in 1958.

Miss Mary Alice Butler Becomes The Bride Of Mr. J. Ralph Shell In Lovely Wedding

Mrs. J. Ralph Shell

In a candlelight ceremony at St. Paul Methodist Church, Louisville, Saturday evening, June 11, at eight o'clock, Miss Mary Alice Butler became the bride of Mr. J. Ralph Shell of Murray.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Dorothy S. Butler of Jeffersonville, Indiana, and Mr. James M. Butler of New Albany, Indiana. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. R. A. Shell and the late R. A. Shell of Murray.

Rev. Ted Hightower officiated at the double ring ceremony before an altar banked with palms and standards of mixed flowers of white gladioli, snapdragons and carnations, accented with light of glowing tapers in two seven-branched candelabrum. Tall cathedral candles lined the sides of the aisle through which the wedding party passed.

Mr. Henry Myers, organist of the church, rendered nuptial music and accompanied Mr. J. Howard, Jr., who sang "Ave Maria," "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Mrs. S. Eugene Hicks of Louisville, sister of the bride, was maid-of-honor. Misses Jo Ann and Jane Shell, sisters of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Willis H. Tatum, aunt of the bride, were bridesmaids.

Mr. George O. West, Jr., of Georgetown, Ohio, served as best man and the ushers were Messrs. Roger G. Pale, Robert E. Lee, Jr. and Edward Mills of Louisville. The ring bearers were Philip Grimm and Ricky Elliott, cousins of the bride of Jeffersonville.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of imported Chantilly lace over tulle and satin, with sequin and pearl-embroidered embroidery accenting the wide off-shoulder yoke. Long sleeves tapered to bridal points, at the hands, and the lavishly full skirt spread into a circling chapel train. Her two-tiered veil of silk illusion was attached to a peaked collar of rosepoint lace with pleated tulle and edged in seed pearls. She carried a white Bible with tortois and Stephanotis. Her only jewelry were a string of pearls and pearl earrings, a gift from the bridegroom.

The ballerina-length gown of the matron of honor was of green tulle with lace bodice. The bouffant skirt was accented with a long draped torso. The bridesmaids wore similar gowns in blue, pink and yellow. All wore headbands of spring flowers and carried colonial bouquets in matching colors.

The mother of the bride wore an aqua lace dress with white hat and corsage of white carnations. The bridegroom's mother chose a pink lace dress and pink accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations.

A reception, was held in the church parlors for 200 guests. The bride's table was tastefully appointed with lace cloth and was centered with a four-tiered wedding cake nestled in an arrangement of gladioli and greenery, flanked with tall white tapers in three branched candelabrum.

After a wedding trip to the Smoky Mountains, Mr. and Mrs. Shell now reside at 1504 Oleander Court, Louisville.

Chico Looks Like Chico Of Old Says Marty Marion

By ROBERT KILVERKAMP

United Press Sports Writer

CHEAGO (UP)—Chico Carrasquel looks like "the Carrasquel of old" since Manager Marty Marion benched him for five days last week.

That's right from the mouth of Frank Lane, general manager of the Chicago White Sox, who probably knows his players better than most major league managers.

Speculation about Chico being "over the hill, indifferent and lazy" is "a lot of bunk," as far as Lane is concerned.

Carrasquel, a native of Caracas, Venezuela, is only 27 years old, and Lane says he'll be the Chicago White Sox' shortest for several more years.

He'll also be one of the best shortstops in baseball, if not the best, Lane said.

Disappointment To Fans Carrasquel has been a disappointment to many Sox fans this year, including "Mr. Shortstop" himself, Marty Marion. Carrasquel's fielding wasn't up to what it used to be during the first half of the season, and his batting average has dipped from .318 to below .250.

He still came up with spectacular plays, but Marion got disgruntled when he bobbled some easy ones. Thus, he benched him when the Sox were fighting to overtake the league-leading New York Yankees.

But Carrasquel showed he still has "it" when he was put back in the starting lineup. He slapped out two home runs in a double-header and has been fielding flawlessly since.

"I know I not getting my hits," Carrasquel said, "but I will. Minoos and I hit more last half of season and I hit more pennant."

Lane said Carrasquel "has a lot of pride," and it hurts him to hear book from the fans who were cheering him wildly last year and the year before and the years before that.

Marion Wanted To Help Carrasquel couldn't understand it when Marion benched him. He insisted he was trying as hard as ever, but Marion only wanted to help Carrasquel.

If Marion can get Carrasquel to play the game he's capable of, and if Minnie Minoos starts hitting like "the Minoos of old," Marion has a team that can win the American League pennant.

Lane said there was some truth in the rumors that Carrasquel played better ball when Phil Rizzuto of the Yankees and Lou Boudreau of Cleveland were the opposing shortstops.

"Chico would try a little harder then to show he was the equal of any shortstop alive," Lane said. "He still is," Lane said.
